Effective Facilitation Presentation Skills for

25th & 26th November 2003, London

Energised in part by the need to provide broader assurance and a new definition of Internal Auditing, many Internal Audit functions find they need to perform a much more comprehensive spectrum of audits than ever before – whilst still providing comfort and reassurance that the basics are being managed well.

In particular the addition of internal consultancy has introduced an entirely different dimension to the profession. Practitioners have now to expand their role as facilitators and advisors at the same time demonstrating that they are adding measurable added value.

These responsibilities and challenges require a new set of skills, competencies and abilities. Strong communication and presentation skills are essential in this highly challenging environment, whether this is facilitating control self- assessment workshops or negotiating with management or communicating your ideas in the form of audit reports.

Ask yourself a few questions: -

- Do you communicate as effectively as you would like?
- Do your interpersonal skills motivate and drive the audit team?
- Do you feel that your presentations and discussions with management could benefit from some constructive criticism to improve their impact?

Attending this highly practical 2-day seminar will provide the opportunity to improve your interpersonal communication and presentational skills in order to make a substantial difference to the way you interact with colleagues and senior management.

The seminar features a series of case studies and exercises covering verbal, listening, written and other communication skills, culminating in a presentation to Senior Management. Using video and peer review, you will have the opportunity to learn from fellow auditors as well as benefiting from the wide experience of your seminar leader Phil Griffiths.

Phil is a renowned expert in the internal audit field, having worked with hundreds of audit functions across the world. He will ensure that you take back practical and proven techniques to help you increase your personal impact and career prospects.
